A New Life

Prologue

March 18th 2001, in the small town of "Shadow's End," on a bright sunny day, a young boy named Max is getting ready for school. "Alright Mom, I'm going to school." said Max to his mother. "Have a nice day Max." said Max's mom. Max went out the door, shutting it on his way out. "How can anyone have a nice day at school." said Max under his breath. He walked out of his subdivision and walked straight ahead to his school. Upon arriving he was greeted by his friend, Martha. "Hey Max!" said Martha. "Hi Martha, how's it going?" asked Max. "Pretty good, except for the fact that we have school today." said Martha. Max laughs a little. "Yeah, that really makes a good day bad." said Max. Martha laughs too. "To be true Max, to be true." said Martha. The two walk into the school and go to their lockers which are right next to each other. "So anything interesting happen over the weekend?" asked Martha. "No, that's the problem with this neighborhood nothing cool or exciting ever happens here it's just so boring." said Max. "Well maybe something will happen soon." said Martha. "Not a chance Martha, the only remotely interesting event was when that hot air balloon crashed in the cal desacs, nothing exciting will ever happen here again." said Max. But Max did not know how wrong he was. For something was happening in a distant galaxy that would soon effect Earth.

2 - A lost life

Chapter 1

Alost life

Somewhere far in another part of the universe lies the galaxy Trinua and in this galaxy is a planet inhabited entirely by beings that look like a cross between a human and a cat known as Nekos, the planet Nethra. And on this planet a battle has just emerged, the Neko council has betrayed its people and has launched an attack on the planet. "Ira! Where are you!?" cried a young Neko boy. The boy was named Shan, he and his friend, Ira, who was also a Neko, had escaped the attackers but they were separated when the council attacked their city. "Ira! Please answer me!" cried Shan. "Shan, over here!" cried a young Neko girl. A young girl was standing behind some rubble waving her hand, motioning for him to come over. "Ira! Thank goodness I found you; we need to get out of here before the council finds us." said Shan. "Quick, we need to get to the escape pods at the launch site." said Ira. All of a sudden a laser blast just barely misses them. "Come on!" said Ira. Eventually they find their way to the escape pods, there are two left. "Alright now we just have to..." Then a laser blast destroys one of the escape pods. "NO!!! Now what do we do?!" said Shan. Ira pushes Shan into the escape pod. "Ira, what are you doing?!" asked Shan. "Goodbye Shan don't forget me." said Ira. The doors on the escape pod close and Ira launches the escape pod out into space. "IRA!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!" Shan screamed as he is launched out into space. Shan's pod is now far away from Nethra, his face is pressed against the pod's window, then the planet explodes right in front of Shan's eyes. "NOOOOOOOOOO!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!" Shan cried out. He buries his head into his arms and cries, the tears flow down his face like two waterfalls. "Ira..." Shan softly said.

3 - An unexpected arrival

Chapter 2

An unexpected arrival

Max opens the door to his house, goes in, closes the door, and sets his back pack down. "Mom, I'm home!" yelled Max. "Hi Max, how was your day?" asked Max's mother. "It was okay (actually it was so boring I nearly fell asleep in class)" said Max in his mind. He went up to his room and started on his homework. "Uh, I hate Math." said Max. Then there was a knock on the front door. "Max someone's here to see you." said Max's mother. Max went down stairs and saw Martha standing at the front door. "Martha, what are you doing here?" asked Max. "Well Max I'm having a little trouble with my history homework and when it comes to history you're pretty much the smartest kid in class." said Martha. "Well okay, I'll help. Mom is it okay for me to go over to Martha's for a little bit?" said Max. "Sure honey just be back for dinner." said Max's mother. "Thanks mom." said Max. The two walk down to Martha's house, but when they go in there's no one there. "Martha, where are your parents?" asked Max. "Oh, they're on vacation, so I have the whole house to myself." said Martha. "Wow, lucky." said Max. "Don't your parents ever go on vacation?" asked Max. Max doesn't say anything. "Max?" replied Martha. "Don't you mean parent?" said Max. "What are you talking about?" asked Martha. "After I was born, my dad walked out on my mom and me. So it's just me and my mom." said Max. "Oh... I'm sorry about that." said Martha. "He would've been a lousy father anyway." said Max. Martha falls silent. "Well let's get started on that homework." said Max. They go up to Martha's room and start on her homework. "Max, thanks for helping me out with my homework, you're really sweet." said Martha. "No problem, what are friends for?" said Max. Martha laughs softly, then leans over and kisses Max on his cheek, Max starts to blush. (Okay for those of you, who are confused about these two allow me to explain. You see even though they're both only 13 they secretly love each other, but by secretly I mean keeping it secret from their parents. Alright you up to speed now? Okay we're gonna move along, sorry to slow you down) Max leans over and kisses Martha on her cheek also, Martha giggles and blushes. Max looks out Martha's window to look at the setting sun, but then sees something burning in the sky and it's not the sun. "Martha what's that?" asked Max. "What's what?" replied Martha. "That up there in the sky." Max pointed out. Martha looks up and sees the fire ball. "I don't know what that is." said Martha. "Well whatever it is I think it's getting closer." said Max. He was right the object was getting closer, but what was it? "Max, that thing is headed right for right for us!" said Martha. The object zipped by Martha's house and crashed into her front lawn, after it crashed an earthquake shook the house violently. Martha and Max embrace each other. The earthquake then stops. "What was that?" asked Martha letting go of Max. "Let's check it out." said Max. The two walk outside to where the object crashed, as they got closer to it they saw it was some kind of pod. All of a sudden the doors swing and a figure steps, it was holding its head as if it hit it on something. Max got a closer look at it and saw the figure looked like a human, but it had brown cat ears, a brown cattail, brown fur all over its body, claws on its hands and feet, sharp teeth, and cat eyes. The cat like creature looked up and saw Max and Martha staring straight at him. Without thinking the creature raised its right hand and said, "Hello."

4 - The accident

Chapter 3

The Accident

Max and Martha just stare at the cat-like creature. Max then slowly raised his hand. "H-hello." Max replied. The creature smiled and walked toward them. Martha hid behind Max; they both stared at the creature's tail as it swayed side to side as he walked. The creature approached them then stopped and held out his hand. "My name is Shan, and yours?" said Shan. Max grabbed the creature's hand and shook it. "M-my name is Max and this is Martha." said Max. "It's nice to meet you, by the way what planet is this?" asked Shan. Max and Martha both look at each other then back at Shan. "Earth." they both said. "Earth? I've never heard of this planet." Shan said to himself. "What are you?" asked Martha. "I'm what's known as a Neko, I come from the planet... um... I can't remember..." Shan answered. "Why not?" asked Max. "I'm not sure, all I remember is... actually I can't remember anything." Shan said. "Ok... do you at least remember why you came to this planet?" said Max. "No... I can't remember anything." said Shan. "Well there must've been some reason." said Martha. "I just don't know..." said Shan. Martha walks over to Shan's pod and starts digging around inside, she comes out holding a watch. "Nice watch," said Martha, "but it won't show the time, I wonder if this button turns it on." said Martha. "WAIT I REMEMBER THAT, DON'T PRESS..." but before Shan could finish his sentence, Martha puts the watch on her wrist and pushes the button. The words, "transformation beginning," flash on the watch's screen. A bright light flashes blinding Shan and Max. When their vision was restored they saw a female Neko standing in front of them. "MARTHA?!?!?" said Max in extreme shock. "What?" asked Martha. She looks at her hands and sees they now have claws and brown fur on them. "Wha... what happened to me?!?!?" asked Martha. She looks in the screen and sees the reflection of her face which now is covered in brown fur; her blue eyes are now yellow cat eyes, and two brown cat ears are on the top of her head. "That watch is a disguise device it makes who ever wears it look like one of the population of the planet they're on, and since you're one of this planet's population already it must've thought you were a Neko in disguise so it transformed you into one, but don't ask me how I knew that because I have no idea." said Shan. "Well how do I change back?" asked Martha. "That's the problem, I don't remember." said Shan. "Let me see it." said Max. Martha hands the watch over to Max. Max closely examines it. "Hmmm, this is a pretty complex device, but how does it make you transform?" asked Max. The words, "transformation beginning," flash on the watch's screen. "Uh oh" said Max. A bright light flashes, when it clears a male Neko stands in Max's place. "MAX?!?!?" said Martha. "But why did it transform me? I didn't even press the button!" said Max. "It must also be voice activated." said Shan. "We've got to change back before someone sees us!" said Martha. "Right." said Max. He looks down at the watch, but he sees sparks coming out of it, static is seen on the screen, then the screen cracks and a puff of smoke comes out of it. "Oh no, it shorted out!!" said Max. "You're kidding me!" said Shan. "That means that..."began Martha. "We're stuck like this...forever." said Max
