Chapter 1 - The elements

1 - The elements

This branches from a conversation I had with a friend about which elements the boys were. Here is what we came up with.

Ray=Water

He's mostly calm and cool, and can adapt to almost any situation.

Mike=Fire

He can be warm and fun, but if not carefully monitored, can become out of control, angry, and very dangerous.

Ryan=Air

Ryan is a very flexible person. If things don't go according to plan, he just changes direction and keeps going. He can be like a warm gentle breeze one minute, then the next (when Mike runs away) he's like a hurricane- Loud, destructive, and wet.

Matt=Earth

He doesn't move much, but when he does, it makes a big impact on things. "He's still, and quite on the outside and probably in complete turmoil inside." -quote from Manda

How they effect each other:

Air can sway the direction of water, and make fire blaze out of control. Water can calm fire, and cause earth to move, though only a little at a time. Fire can pollute the air, and burn the earth, but never touches water. Meanwhile, earth sits patiently and endures it all.
