1 - The Creature

One night, when the breeze was frigid, and the moon was bright and full. I didn't stop running. My breathing was fast and so was my heart beat. I tripped over myself, but quickly got up and sprinted of. I knew nothing was chasing me, but I saw it. My house came into sight and I sprinted in, slamming the door shut behind me. My mother was in the kitchen making dinner. I panted with exhaustion and left to go into the living room, kind of shocked by my mothers silence. I threw my self onto the couch and relaxed, I closed my eyes and thought about the creature I saw. Everyone did say the cave was haunted, but, I was just a myth. Right? What I saw, was big, about 20, 30 ft tall, maybe a lil smaller, it looked metallic colored and robot like it had a black head, and red eyes that made it look mean. I know it saw me, I saw it look at me. The only thing that confused me, was that, it looked confused too, like it was frightened, like it had no idea where it was, I had a weapon, it pointed it at me, but it didn't shoot, or follow me. My mother walked in and gave me dinner, lil steak bits that u can chew so many times, but it wouldn't break. By the look of her face she must of thought I ran home thinking I was late or I wasn't paying attention to the time. While I ate my dinner, I planed on my return, to the same place, that I saw the creature in.

2 - Meeting Blackbrawl

I woke up at 6, and headed out, leaving a note to my folks. I waved to my neighbor, Jane, jumped on my bike, and rode off. I decided to name the creature Blackbrawl, since that sounded like a robot kind of name. I left the road and headed onto the path, leading to the cave. I screeched to a stop in front of the cave. Weird noises came from it. "Blackbrawl." I thought, I hopped off my bike and slowly walked into the cave, being as quiet as I could be. The silence was creepy, but it all ended, as soon as I kicked a rock that I never saw. "Crap!" I thought, the noises stopped and Blackbrawl slowly stepped out from the shadows, with his gun, pointing it right at me. I wanted to run, but my legs didn't want to. Blackbrawl stepped closer, "Who are you? Are you an Autobot?" he said. Surprised by his ability to talk, I shook my head. "N-N-No." I stammered, shaking of fear. Blackbrawl slowly put his weapon down, and picked me up. "Are you a minicon?" he said examining me. I shook my head again. "Then what exactly are you?" Blackbrawl sneered. He put me down, but kept a close eye on me, thinking I was going to attack randomly. I took a deep breath, "I'm a human, unlike u, I'm a not a robot, I don't run by the same things u run by." I said trying to act friendly. Blackbrawl smiled a lil, and when I saw him do that, I knew we were going to be good friends.

3 - A new friendship

“So Blackbrawl, why are you here?” I asked. Blackbrawl tilted his head in confusion, “Blackbrawl, Who the hell is that?” he said. I forgot!! I didn’t find out Blackbrawl’s real name!! “Oh, sorry. I didn’t know your real name so I named you Blackbrawl.” I said nervously. Blackbrawl smiled, “On my planet they call me starscream.” he said smiling. I smiled back, “So, why are you here?’ I asked again. Starscream shifted uncomfortably and sighed. “I don’t know, but if megatron knew I was talking to a human, he would kill me. That why I should be leader!” He said with a confident voice. I smiled, I think he would be a great leader. He doesn’t seem evil, he seems like he could rule a whole empire! I got up and looked at him. “I think you would be a great leader starscream!” I said truthfully. Starscream looked confused but smiled, he picked me up and looked at me. “No one on Cybertron would ever say that to the likes of me.” he said while studying me. I smiled a bit and looked a back at him, “I believe you would! That megatron sounds like a jerk, You would be a great leader!” I said happily. Starscream smiled and put me down, “Your not bad kid, here let me give you something.” He said as he took out a black necklace with a red jewel on it. “Here have this Decepticon jewel, with it you can contact any Decepticon.” He said giving it to me. I looked at it in amazement. “Its beautiful! Thank You starscream!” I smiled. A beam of light shot down from the caves entrance. Sunrise. I put the necklace on and looked at starscream. ‘I’m sorry starscream, but I have to go, its almost time for school. I’ll be back later. I’ll call if I need you.” I said happily, yet gloomily. Starscream waved goodbye, as I hopped onto my bike and rode off.

4 - The attack

Cybertron, that's must have been where Starscream lived before something bad happened. The necklace shined in the light of the sunrise. I loved the necklace for some reason, not like a "my boyfriend gave it to me," love it or a "it matches my eyes" love it, just a love it. Starscream was now one of my best friends, even though we only met today, but I know we both know that we have that weird friendship, you know, like when you meet a person for the first time, but you want or are hoping to see them again. I could tell we both had that spirit going. I wanted to see him again, and I know he did too, I respected him like nobody has ever did. I skidded to a stop in front of my school, hopped of my bike and left it near the stands, my usual spot. Jen, one of my friends that I share every single class with, was waiting out side, for me. "Hi Caroline!" she said in her perky, happy self. She hopped over to me and smiled. I sighed and looked at her. "Jen, did you take your pills today?" I said with a evil smile, knowing her answer would be stupid. "What pills?" she questioned. We had an awkward laugh moment and we headed off to class. Social studies, reading, world language, science, language arts, have went by too fast. The last class of the day, was math, the horror subject to me. Mr. Nelson had yet another trick up his sleeve, he pretended to stick a pencil up his nose, which made everyone have a laugh before the bell rang to end that day. My head always hurts after math, ratios and fractions made me want to scream. Thank god the bell rang. Jen and I decided to stay after to clean the class up after all 15 boys messed it up. Jen looked at the time and growled. "Have to go, mom will blow if I don't git home!" Jen said leaving. I waved and watched her leave the class. The silenced was annoying, nobody to talk to you, you have to start your own conversation, so I did. "I wish starscream was here." I thought as I put the books back in order. Then I decided to break the silence. "I wish he was here." I said out loud. The necklace glew right after I said that. I thought it was light, but was I wrong. The glass shattered and knocked desks over and made books fly off, I looked up as starscream flew in. "Hey." he said. I waved then fixed the desks right side up. Starscream looked worried, "Caroline, you called every decepticon." He said nervously. I looked at him, "What?" I said. Starscream sighed, "You said I wish he was here, not I wish starscream was here. All decepticons are males, you could of called anyone." he said shifting uncomfortably. Just then, I felt something cold go down my back, then it went warm. Starscream slowly lifted his gun and pointed it at me. I shivered as the cold disappeared and the warmth grew, I felt pain in my back as I felt something sharp hit it. All I heard was the small drips of blood hitting the floor. Starscream quickly fired his weapon. I scream in pain and in fright as I ran to the door. I turned around and saw starscream, holding back a grey robot with red eyes. The robot was about a foot taller than starscream and had a black weapon on his arm, which he used to fired at my leg. Tears streamed down my face as I saw starscream struggle in the grey robots grip. Megatron, that had to be him. He had starscream pummeled to the ground, but starscream got up quickly. He looked back at me, "Run!" he warned me. I ran out as fast as my shot leg could take me. I managed to get out and I scrambled to the woods, I cried harder as I thought of starscream. My leg gave in as I fell to the ground sobbing. I lost my train of thought and I blacked out. I wanted to stay awake, because I saw something big, watching me as I fell.

5 - Jordan

I woke up in a whole new place, lights and chemicals everywhere. It was amazing, kind of like a hospital. I looked around and I noticed something in the distance. I got up and went to go see it, but this giant robot, just like starscream but red and white. "Hold it kid! Your not going anywhere in that condition." He commanded. I stood there in fright, is he... good... or bad? *I looked past the robot and saw some human. I wonder who it is. I squinted to see better and I was surprised. It was my boyfriend, Jordan. How the heck did he get here?! I ran to him as fast as I could. "Jordan? Is, that you?" I mumbled. Jordan turned around. He has a smile on his face. "Caroline? Glad to see your awake" he smiled more. Ah, that smile, sexy as ever. And his face, adorable. " Yeah, I'm fine." I blushed a bit. Jordan smiled. "Heh, your so cute." He commented. I blushed more and hugged him. I smiled when he hugged me back. Ahhh, Such warmth. Jordan stepped back and whistled. "I wanna introduce you to some friends. I met them a couple of days ago." she said. I watched as a bunch of vehicles drove in. One was a Ferrari Enzo, another one was a black and silver motor bike, and then there was a Hercules plane, a pink sports car, a modified ford mustang, and then there was a fire truck. The strange this was. They were all driving them selves. Weird. Are they robots too? They all of a sudden just transformed in to robots. Holy crap. I couldn't believe my eyes. Jordan smiled and laughed. "introduce your selves guys!" He yelled. The Ferrari smiled. "My name is solar. I'm Jordans guardian." He said. "The name's Revs" snickered the motor bike. Ok, he scares me. I looked up at the other one, the Hercules plane. Whoa, he's tall. Really tall. I can barely see his head! He looked old. Old enough to know why the dinosaurs died. But, what do I know. "My name is gladiator." He grumbled. "Name's Roadflash." The pink sports car replied. Cool. Ok. They come in genders. The ford mustang kneeled down. "Hello, I'm Tyreburn, nice to meet you." He greeted. The fire truck kneeled near Tyreburn and smiled. "My name is Torch." He grinned. I smiled and hugged Jordan. "Nice to meet you all, I'm Caroline." I mumbled. They all seemed nice. It looks like I have new friends. Jordan smiled in a way that made me feel happy. He took me by surprise and held me close. Close enough to see his beautiful eyes. I blushed a bit and he kissed me. Deep on the lips, and full with passion. I fell in love with him all over again. I kissed back. "Ooh, get a room you two!" solar teased. Jordan had a loving face on. Such a beautiful face. He smiled and looked at solar. "Ok! We will!" He teased back. I felt my face blush really badly. Heh. Looks like Jordan is good friends with them. Looks like I have to get to know where I am. And who these robots are. And where they are really from.

For: jordan... i love you hunny.
